New Worlds for All
Indians, Europeans, and the Remaking of Early America second edition
Colin G. Calloway
“An essential starting point for all those interested in the interaction of Europeans and Indians in early American life.” —Christian Science Monitor
The second edition incorporates fifteen years of additional scholarship on Indian-European relations, such as the role of gender, Indian slavery, relationships with African Americans, and new understandings of frontier society.
2013 264 pp., 21 b&w illus. 978-1-4214-1031-9 $24.95 pb Also available as an e-book

Prelude to Revolution
The Salem Gunpowder Raid of 1775
Peter Charles Hoffer
Before colonial Americans could declare independence, they had to undergo a change of heart. Beyond a desire to rebel against British merchantile and fiscal policies, they had to believe that they could stand up to the fully armed British soldier. Prelude to Revolution uncovers one story of how the Americans found that confidence: a British raid on Salem, Massachusetts, which turned into a bloodless triumph for the colonists.

Native Memoirs from the War of 1812
Black Hawk and William Apess
Carl Benn
“Benn’s editing of the autobiographies is expert, unobtrusive, and thorough. He clarifies the confusing chronology in the original texts and intervenes with spare but important commentary. The idea of putting Apess and Black Hawk together in one book is highly original and timely.” —Gregory Evans Dowd, University of Michigan, Ann Arbor
2014 208 pp., 17 b&w photos, 5 maps

William Henry Harrison and the Conquest of the Ohio Country
Frontier Fighting in the War of 1812
David Curtis Skaggs
“Skaggs has an impressive command of his sources and control over a welter of details. I know of no other book that rivals this blow-by-blow account of the tactics and logistics of the War of 1812. So many current books focus on the cultural, political, global, and diplomatic dimensions of war that it is refreshing to read a straightforward military narrative.” —Andrew Cayton, Miami University

Coxsackie
The Life and Death of Prison Reform
Joseph F. Spillane

Spillane examines the failure of progressive reform in New York State by focusing on Coxsackie, a New Deal reformatory built for young male offenders. From the start, the liberal impulse underpinning the prison’s mission was overwhelmed by challenges it was unequipped or unwilling to face—drugs, gangs, and racial conflict.
